Truma programmable heating took the van from cold to cosy in under an hour

After a torrent of Brokeback Mountain jokes in the office, we were happy to get away on our Yorkshire adventure. Val Chapman had recommended the Coachman Pastiche 520/4 as an ideal van for the trip and we weren't disappointed.

This high-quality, spacious van proved perfect. The two front sofas made excellent single beds, even for the six-foot-two-inch editor. The kitchen was well-equipped, the side diner was ideal when we ate in the van and the shower-room can only be described as luxurious. Full live-in test to follow.
